SVI Bremco | Unifying Email Systems to Improve Communication

SVI Bremco needed to bring multiple email domains from a sister company into one centralized environment. We led the consolidation, working after hours and on weekends to make the transition seamless and minimize disruption.

CLIENT: SVI Bremco

INDUSTRY: Energy / industrial manufacturing

LOCATION: Pineville, North Carolina, USA

SERVICES: Designs and manufactures gas path solutions, inlet/exhaust systems, and industrial silencers.

ABOUT SVI BREMCO

SVI Bremco designs, engineers, and manufactures gas path solutions for power and process applications. They supply OEM and custom-designed inlet and exhaust systems, silencers, and acoustical enclosures for gas turbines, industrial fans, compressors, and related systems. With engineering, manufacturing, and project teams working across complex requirements, reliable communication systems are critical to keeping operations aligned.

THE CHALLENGE

SVI Bremco needed to consolidate email domains from a sister company into a single, unified environment. Managing multiple domains created inefficiencies, added administrative overhead, and made it harder to maintain consistency across the organization.

At the same time, this kind of migration carried real risk. Any downtime, lost emails, or disruption to staff communication would directly impact daily operations. The challenge wasn't just completing the project; it was doing it without interrupting the business.

SVI Bremco needed an IT partner who could plan carefully, execute reliably, and work around business hours to keep everything running.

THE T3 MSP CYBERSECURITY & IT SOLUTION

We managed the full project of migrating and consolidating email domains into one centralized location. Our team handled the planning, execution, and validation needed to ensure continuity across both companies.

Our approach included:

- Migrating the sister company email domains into a single environment
- Coordinating changes to avoid lost messages or access issues
- Working nights and weekends to minimize disruption
- Staying hands-on throughout the process to ensure a smooth transition

By working outside normal business hours and staying flexible, we ensured the migration felt seamless to the team using the systems every day.

THE RESULT

SVI Bremco now benefits from:

- A unified email environment across companies
- Improved internal communication and consistency
- Reduced administrative complexity
- A smoother, more reliable email experience for staff

Most importantly, the transition was completed with minimal disruption, thanks to a team willing to do what it took to get it done right.
